Family planning is the most effective climate protection

eurASP Conference | Brussels, 12/11/2022

Gyula I. Simonyi, president

Contraception is pleasure planning, liberation of love and nature.

Planning to ensure that the potential future child, the woman and the man, the family, the society and the entire living world have the most joy during their lifetime.

Contraception is magical!

1. Human right (United Nations, 1968)
2. the most effective climate protection
3. the most effective environment and nature protection
4. the key to rising out of poverty
5. the key to women empowerment and education of girls
6. the key to reduce maternal and child mortality
7. the key to physical and mental health of the potential future child
8. reduces the risk of epidemics
9. mitigates conflicts and violence and migration...

Does a child really want to be conceived with us, now?

Only women can decide if, when and by whom they want to get pregnant. But no one has the right to procreate without fulfilling rights of the potential future child:

- to be conceived by common responsible decision
- of a well-prepared couple
- with mature personality
- in a stable relationship
- to a loving home and community
- to a healthy nature, livable Earth
- where they will be given the mental and the material resources for a happy life.

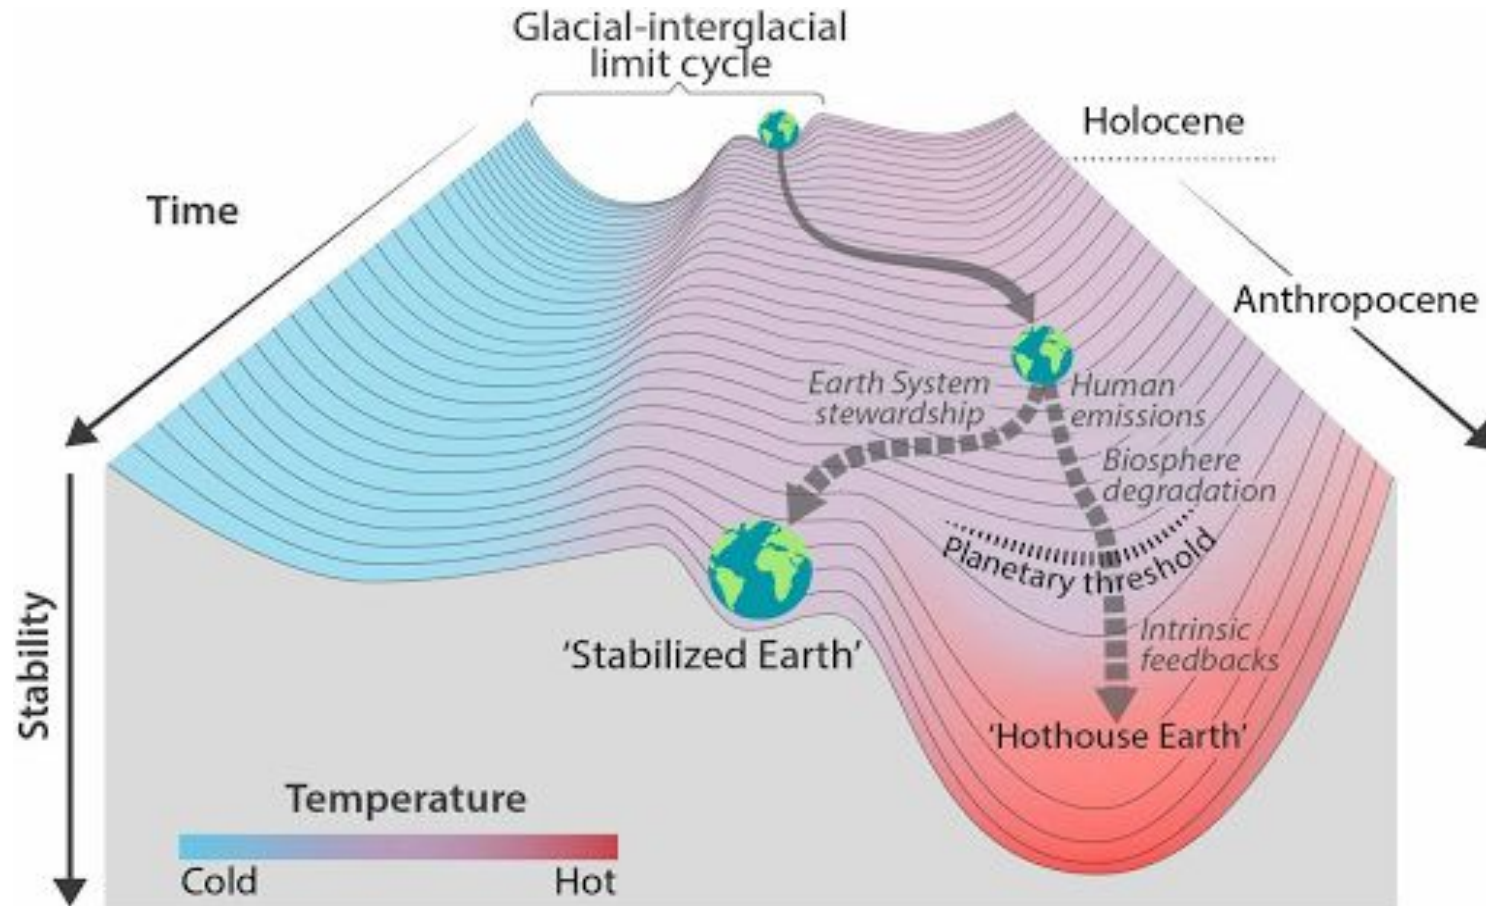

Our civilization is already collapsing due to the population explosion

How can it be that almost half of the pregnancies are accidents that the couple did not want? 43% in Europe as well. Each day approx. 100,000 children are born whom their parents did not want.

Why does humanity watch with indifference as hundreds of millions are still deprived of the right, knowledge, and means of contraception?

Is humanity crazy to destroy itself by overpopulation?

Yes, crazy! The Nobel Prize-winning Hungarian biologist Albert Szent-Györgyi wrote in The Crazy Ape, already in 1970: the brain evolved to solve the "here and now", not to understand long-term and global trends.

"Death control without birth control is a disaster."

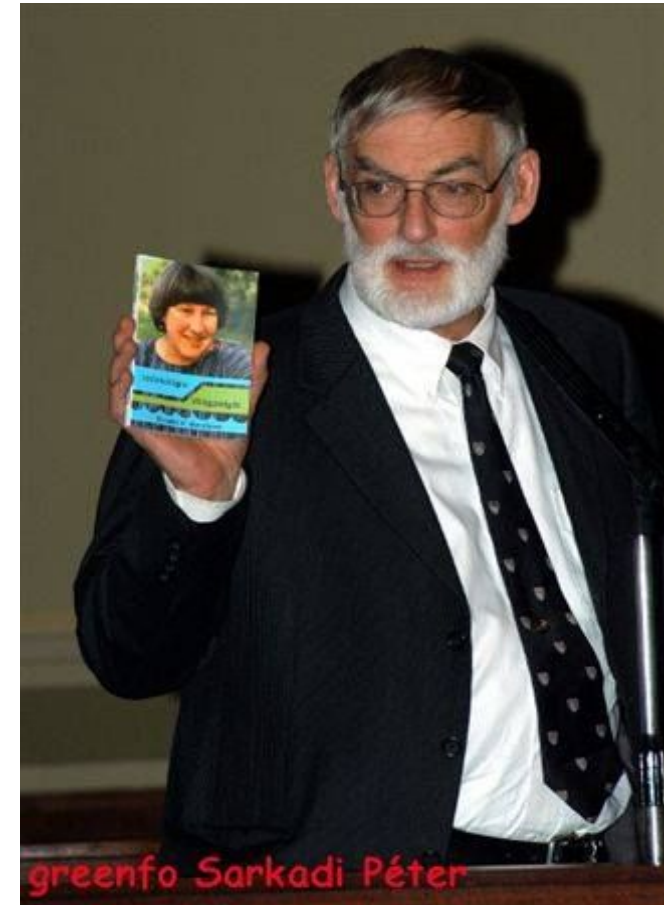

Instinctive evolutionary adaptation

Fortunately, there are instinctive processes in the right direction that are already emerging even in public thinking.

Even though most people are unaware of the catastrophic scale and fatal consequences of overpopulation, there is an instinctive trend towards smaller families, childfree, concern for future children, contraception as magic wand, compassion for the hundreds of millions suffering from the unmet need of contraception.

The youth, women, the poor, global family planning organizations, even spiritual groups, and some businesses fight against overcrowding. Greens slowly turn azure (where population is not taboo). "Regret being a parent" groups break the taboo of passing such valuable experiences to the youth.

Dennis Meadows, co-author of Limits to Growth (1972) presents one of the books of BOCS at the Hungarian Academy of Sciences.

We can speed up the good processes

By spreading scientific knowledge among these groups, strengthening financial resources (e.g. opening climate budgets for family planning), we can accelerate the humanitarian solution:

- scientific contraceptive competence education for all adolescents
- free availability of contraceptives
- spreading the new ecological paradigm that understands the world crisis

International development funds would be more than enough for all unintended pregnancies averted (UPA). Also family planning organisations can monetize their work via providing carbon neutralisation.

Climate protection is multi-disciplinary work

BOCS has been doing the multidisciplinary work of climate awareness raising for three decades:

- human rights of women and future generations,
- international development, reproductive justice and the struggle against poverty,
- peace and public security,
- ecology, environment and nature protection,
- demography, overpopulation, population explosion,
- education, health, spirituality...

We need a breakthrough

Conferences fail to slow CO₂ emissions because the main reason, overpopulation, is a taboo. The climate catastrophe is slowly entering the public consciousness, so there is already some funding and political will for it.

The multidisciplinary innovation of BOCS brings a breakthrough: it makes the climate protection effect of contraception measurable.

The Quality Family Planning Standard (QFPS) can quantify the Greenhouse Gas (GHG) emission prevention that is the byproduct of the work to help unintended pregnancies averted (UPA).

Carbon Footprint Calculator

The QFPS standard calculates the climate protection impact of organizations working to help unintended pregnancies averted (UPA).

The resulting Quality Family Planning Credit (QFPC) can be registered and used for carbon neutralization.

For carbon neutralisation, you can use our free calculator to calculate carbon footprints.

The scarcity of the lowest hanging fruit: QFPC

QFPC is the lowest hanging fruit - there is only few of it. Only the fastest pioneers can carbon offset themselves by this most effective tool.

Because contraception must be available to everyone in the blink of an eye. This goal was set for 2014 (Cairo Action Plan 1994), for 2015 (MDG 5B), now for 2030 among the Sustainable Development Goals, both in the field of health (SDG 3.7) and of women's empowerment (SDG 5.6).

This conference is climate neutral

All similar organisations can apply to BOCS for climate neutralisation

If your work, project, event, service or product help to unintended pregnancies averted (can have UPA results), you are eligible to apply for BOCS carbon neutralisation.
